>> The risk of injury, especially in my category of sports, is particularly high. I can lower this risk considerably by having regular BEMER sessions. << Thomas Frischknecht, World Cup champion, Olympic silver medalist.

Faster regeneration – is important for optimum results.

Increase your Performance, Protect your Health!

Ready, set, BEMER! A lot of factors are important in world class sports: health, fitness, performance, regeneration and time. The BEMER technology can contribute positively to all of these when applied as a supplementary application. Because of its positive influence on microcirculation, regeneration time can be reduced and consequently training sessions can be extended. BEMER can prevent sport injuries and trauma such as injured muscles, ligaments and tissue, or to speed up recovery processes.

Many international athletes at the top levels in all disciplines are among the numerous enthusiastic BEMER users.

Stress vs. Regeneration.

>> If you want to win in Snowboarding you have to put 100% effort into it. BEMER not only helps me optimize my training success but also supports me in the necessary regeneration phases. << Daniela Meuli, Olympic winner and multiple World Cup champion.

From Professionals. For Professionals. The effect of BEMER Technology is well researched and proven. It has become indispensable to numerous physiotherapeutic and medical practices and also to the daily training of many well known elite athletes.
